

EDCO Collaborative invites you to participate in:

HELPING STUDENTS UNDERSTAND THE RESEARCH PROCESS

Face-to-Face Meetings:

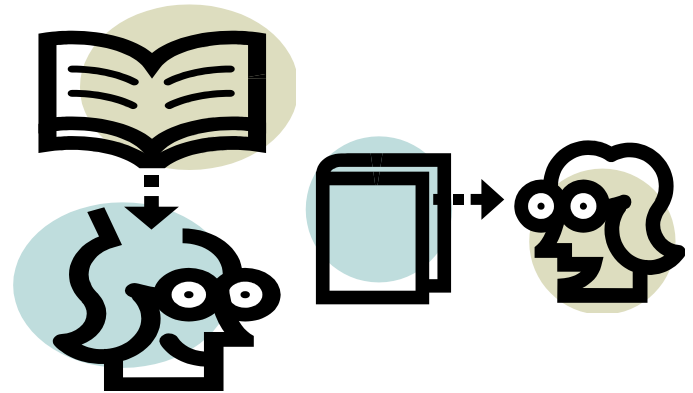

March 2 and 29, 2010

3:45 pm - 5:45 pm

Online Sessions:

March 2 - 28, 2010

No set times

This one-credit course will lead teachers and librarians through an exploration of a well-designed research process. Get started with a face to face meeting where we'll pull apart the research process and examine its various parts. How can you teach it? What can your students really learn from doing research? Using readings and online discussion as well as lots of sharing, we'll spend the rest of the month working on developing individual projects that will be ready to go in your classrooms. This exploration is a perfect fit for both librarians and classroom teachers who want to make their research projects smarter. We'll come back together to share our work and discuss what we've learned that's useful at the end of the month.

Presenter:	Carol Kelly, Salem State College and former K -12 librarian
Audience:	Grades 4 - 12 classroom teachers, librarians and administrators
Registration:	Through the Office of Curriculum and Instruction in your district
Fee:	$175 EDCO members / $220 non-members
Credit option:	At the first class, participants may choose to register for 1 graduate credit from Framingham State College for an additional fee of $65.
Location:	Face-to-face sessions at EDCO in Waltham; the rest of the course online
Register by:	February 23, 2010. Registrations received beyond that date will be accepted according to space availability.
Questions?	Please call the EDCO Seefurth Center at (781) 259-3445.